A trend-setter in city's hospitality sector

Saree-clad robot brings food to table

Service just got better with 'Echo,' Mysuru's first robot waitress at Hotel Siddharta

Mysuru, Feb. 15 (KS)- Robots have been replacing humans on factory floors and even operation theatres for decades, and now they are coming for customer-facing jobs.

They are designed to look and act like us and these robots can do any job humans can do, perhaps much more effectively and efficiently and without falling ill, needing breaks or offs.

In Mysuru city, Hotel Siddharta near Hardinge Circle, has transformed table-to-table service with Echo, the saree-clad robot waitress.

Though robots have been functioning as waiters at many restaurants in Chennai, Hyderabad and Shivamogga in Karnataka, it is for the first time Mysuru has such a facility.

While a trial run was conducted yesterday at the hotel, Echo has begun serving customers from today and has proved a big crowd-puller.

Purchased from a robotic firm in New Delhi at a cost of about Rs. 2.5 lakh, Echo arrived at the hotel yesterday and the robotic engineer, who accompanied Echo, is programming it to take orders through voice commands.

About Echo

Echo is battery-operated and once charged for four to five hours, it can move around the hotel taking orders through voice commands and serving food for eight hours.

A magnetic strip has been laid in the restaurant between the tables and also from the kitchen to the tables for the robot to move.

Echo can carry food items weighing up to 10 kg. Each table is given a number and has been affixed with a sensor.

Biker fakes scooter's number plate; caught

Scooterist gets wrong e-challan asking him to cough up Rs. 46,500

Mysuru, Feb. 15 (SPN&BCT)- As the crackdown against traffic and road safety violations has intensified, the enforcement authorities seem to have stumbled upon a new menace — using fake vehicle registration numbers to evade penalty.

The number of vehicles with illegal minor variations is alarmingly on the rise. What stands testimony to these circumstances is the surge in the number of wrong e-challans being served to people leaving them harrowed.

The Traffic Cops have asked citizens to report the duplicate number plates to local Police Stations so that they can initiate further action. The Krishnaraja (KR) Traffic Police have booked a person who owns a motorbike for faking the number plate of a scooter and have made him pay Rs. 46,500 as fine.

He had fraudulently used the registration number of the scooter and continuously violated traffic rules thinking that he will never be caught as the registration number itself is fake. The Honda Activa, with registration number KA-09-HU-4906, was owned by Mahadev and he continuously got e-challans for violating traffic rules.

At first Mahadev thought that he had indeed violated traffic rules. But when he got a notice of Rs. 46,500, he was shocked and examined the notice carefully. He realised that the notice was actually issued to a Splendor bike. He realised that he never drove his scooter on the date and time of the stated offence.

He approached the Krishnaraja Police Station along with his scooter, the traffic challans and also the original registration papers of his vehicle. Perplexed, K.R. Inspector D. Manjunath began an investigation and found that Ejaz Pasha, a resident of Sunnadakeri, had a Splendor bike with KA-09-HU-4906 number plate instead of his allotted number KA-09-HV-4906. Ejaz Pasha and his vehicle were traced and he was summoned to the K.R. Traffic and was made to pay Rs. 46,500 that was originally e-challanned to Mahadev.

Meanwhile, the Traffic Police have asked the people to directly complain in case they received a wrong e-challan. Every day, they issue several hundreds of non-contact challans (e-challan) and sometimes mistakes do occur while keying in the number.

"Criminal cases are being registered against people who fake registration numbers and action is being initiated. If anyone brings to our notice about wrong challans being issued, we are resolving the issue after asking for evidence," Traffic officials said.

Issuing similar number plates to multiple vehicles by RTO is unlikely as all the processes are computerised. There is no manual interference in the process and hence, no question of a mistake.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

So you are trying to locate C-75 in a housing colony and you get to C-74 and then it miraculously changes to F-708 and you are now totally marooned. Making rude sounds about idiots who mark these blocks you drive in third gear till you spot a roadside cobbler, a vegetable cart seller or a tea shop with a throng of people sitting there. Ask them for help. First they look at each other, then they look at you, then they look at each other again and hold a mini conference which is supposed to spark a spiral of hope in you. After which they simply shrug and you know this confab is not going anywhere in a hurry..... Then, for some reason, you think that the guard asleep outside a rich man's house will be a good bet to guide you and you approach one. Seeing as how they do not move from that rickety chair except to go into that green cubicle called the guardhouse, it is a pretty misplaced confidence that the house guard would be an expert on the topography of the locality. But since he is in uniform it kind of gives him some kind of authority and he says C-75, C-75, C-75 and looks wise and knowing as he mulls it over then points in a specific direction and says go to the crossroads then take the second right and go past the park.

For some reason you don't listen to him. That is the part which defies understanding. We nod and then we go the other way because we don't want to be trumped. But then we find we are now in G Block and in the colony's annexe..... This is the moment your wife makes the brilliant observation that we are lost and we should have listened to the guard, he seemed to know. No, he didn't, he was clueless, ah here is a man walking a dog.....

With great aplomb our dog walker says, you are in the wrong place, which, as an observation thrashes the obvious into pulp and then he says, you need to go all the way back and at the third roundabout go right then look for the large rubbish bin near the big drain and that is C Block. Like a lost Livingstone we retrace our route and pass the guard again who waves at us like we were old friends.

The Miniature Husky you didn't know

Alaska: Klee Kai – literally "little dog" in an Alaskan indigenous dialect – is a fairly new dog breed designed as a smaller version of the popular Alaskan Husky.

The husky is one of the world's most beloved dog breeds, but it's no secret that their medium-to-large frame requires a lot of space, making them less-than-ideal apartment pets. Developed in the 1970s by an Alaskan breeder, the Klee Kai is a considerably smaller version of the Alaskan Husky that features the same iconic appearance and developed intellect that huskies are famous for.

The Klee Kai breed is attributed to Linda Spurlin, a breeder from Wasilla, Alaska, who reportedly discovered an underdeveloped Alaskan husky and instantly fell in love with it. She went on to mix Alaskan Huskies with Siberian Husky, American Eskimo Dog and Skipperkes in order to create her own breed of mini huskies.

33-year-old Wombat is world's oldest

Ikeda: A wombat living at a Japanese zoo was dubbed the oldest wombat ever in captivity by Guinness World Records after the animal celebrated its 33rd birthday. The Australian marsupial, named Wain, was officially dubbed the oldest ever wombat in captivity during a ceremony Friday at the Satsukiyama Zoo in Ikeda.

Zoo officials said they marked Wain's 33rd birthday in January. Wain took the record from a male wombat that died at the age of 32 in 2017. Wombats in captivity generally live to be between 20 and 25 years old. The zoo said Wain is in good health, despite cataracts in the animal's eyes.

Stop dumping of garbage near Vontikoppal temple

Sir,

Sri Lakshmi Venkataramanaswamy temple on KRS main road in Vontikoppal has become a garbage dumping zone. Devotees who visit the temple dispose the leftover of prasadam and flower waste near the temple.

Though the temple authorities try to clean up that area and the garbage, it becomes a dumping place very next minute. Because of this there's also cattle menace around this area which causes traffic jam in the bylane.

During special events and during special puja times, the garbage pile mounts up and emanates foul smell making it difficult to walk by the road.

I request the authorities concerned to take up the issue and find a proper solution for the same. Due to the garbage dump, it gets difficult for the visitors to park their two-wheelers and again ends up blocking the traffic and causes disturbance.

Others seen are (from right) SP R. Chethan, City Police Commissioner Dr. Chandragupta and Deputy Commissioner Dr. Bagadi Gautham.

Mysuru, Feb. 15 (RKB&DM)- Lauding the district authorities for timely distribution of relief to victims of atrocities and violence, National SC/ST Commission Member Anjubala at the same time directed the officials to ensure that perpetrators of crimes are punished. She expressed displeasure that the conviction rate in SC/ST atrocity cases was just about 3 percent.

She was speaking at the progress review meeting of Centrally sponsored SC/ST welfare programmes at the Deputy Commissioner's office here yesterday.

Asking the officials of all departments to take serious note of complaints on SC/ST atrocities that are received at their respective office, Anjubala said that officials must take suitable action and ensure that the complaints do not reach the National SC/ST Commission. She also warned of action against officials who do not act on complaints.

Superintend of Police (SP) R. Chethan said that a total of 59 victims of atrocities in three years (2019, 2020 and 2021) have been distributed relief so far.

Maintaining that atrocities against SC/ST communities is under control in Mysuru district, he said that all complaints are being addressed in quick time.

Social Welfare Department Joint Director B. Malathi said that a collective relief of Rs. 2.20 crore has been paid to victims in Mysuru district. The compensation amount has been directly credited to the bank account of the victims through RTGS, she added.

However, expressing dissatisfaction over the progress of Pradhan Mantri Ujjwala Yojana, she took the officials of Oil Marketing Companies to task for not taking enough measures to sensitise the people on the benefits of this ambitious scheme of the Centre.

Anjubala directed the Lead Bank officials to send a separate report on the loans and advances made to SC/ST community entrepreneurs under the Centre's ambitious MUDRA scheme.

The Commission Director S.K. Singh said that officials must take all atrocity cases against SC/ST communities seriously.

City Police Commissioner Dr. Chandragupta highlighted the measures taken by the Police on SC/ST complaints and grievances.

After trenches, solar fences, rail barricades, barbed wires and honeybee fences...

Now, steel wires to stop jumbos from straying out of forests

Bengaluru, Feb. 15 (KMS& BCT)- Be it elephant trenches, solar-powered fences, Railway track barricades, chilli-tobacco rope fences, barbed wires, honeybee fences, wild elephants have always outsmarted all methods tried by the Forest Department to keep them inside reserve forests, national parks and wildlife sanctuaries.

Elephants have continued to stray into human habitats and over the years, human-elephant conflict has only increased causing deaths and injuries in both humans and elephant populations.

Now the Department is mulling the installation of steel wire fences on forest boundaries in Karnataka to prevent elephants and other wild animals from straying into farmlands. Steel wire fencing is a safe method adopted in Tamil Nadu to prevent elephants from entering villages.

"We have tried many ways to prevent animals from straying into human habitats, from solar fencing to rail fences, and even tried wired fencing on forest boundaries. However, none of them were found to be very effective. Hence, we have decided to adopt the Tamil Nadu model of fencing, by using strong cables, so that elephants and other animals do not enter villages," a forest officer said.

In Tamil Nadu, the wire fencing has been installed at Jawalagiri forests in Hosur division where the Forest Department erected a 2-km-long steel wire fence to prevent wild elephants from encroaching into residential areas. The fence is set up in a region from where wild elephants enter villagers to raid farmlands every year.

Farmers from this area have been complaining about wild elephants raiding their crops for at least six months every year. Herds of elephants from Bannerghatta National Park and Cauvery Wildlife Sanctuary in Karnataka used to come to the Tamil Nadu side in October. They used to camp in forest areas surrounding the villages and return to their home only in May.

This was the regular route of the herd. The Forest Department erected a steel wire fence in Mudumalai and its strength was tested using a kumki elephant. The results showed that the fence withstood the pressure and it was not damaged. Also, the wire was tested and its size was standardised.

The success achieved by Tamil Nadu foresters in the Cauvery Wildlife Sanctuary will be replicated in Nagarahole Tiger Reserve soon. In steel wires, elephants do not get a sturdy base (like the rail barricade) to stand or rest on and later cross over to the other side. The steel ropes will bounce back and this will confuse the animal.

Steel wire fencing being tested at Hosur Range in Tamil Nadu by Forest Department staff.

The elephant will not get any grip to climb over the ropes.

The steel ropes will be similar to the ones used to make bridges and will be first tried on a 5-km stretch in Veeranahosahalli Range, where there is a perennial problem of human-elephant conflict. The steel ropes are also cheaper than rail barricades, said Department officials.

"While one kilometre of Railway barricade will cost Rs.1.2 crore to Rs. 1.3 crore, the steel wires will cost just Rs. 50 lakh to 55 lakh per kilometre," officials said

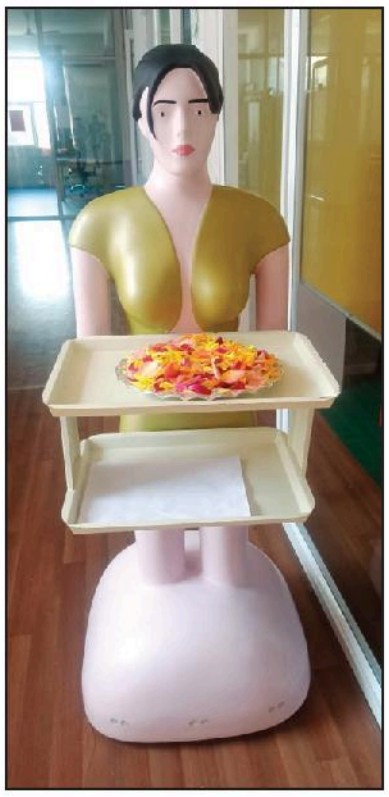
Once the food is prepared, hotel staff places the food on the tray that Echo holds and issues commands to serve the food to a particular table and Echo effortlessly reaches the table with food. The customers will have to pick up their plates once Echo reaches their table.

Apart from listing the items on the menu, Echo is able to provide information on tourist spots in and around Mysuru along with the distance and the estimated time taken to reach. At present Echo is programmed to serve food for 15 tables which can be upgraded to more tables.

Echo has been designed in such a way so that it does not fall while moving around. Sensors have been installed in the robot so that it stops whenever someone comes in its way or crosses while carrying food. The hotel staff has been well-trained to operate Echo. The staff will stay in touch with the makers of the robots so that they can guide them in case of an emergency.



Five more robot waiters planned

P.V. Giri, Chairman, Siddharta Groups, told Star of Mysore, "There are plans to get five more robots but it depends on the performance of Echo and on how customers accept its services."

"There are many educated people who choose the profession of waiters and they eventually quit when they get jobs according to their qualifications and we used to face staff shortage. This is one of the reasons why we got Echo. Moreover, we were once using grinding stones which have been replaced by electric grinders and mixers. Machines have taken over many works and we have to adapt," Giri added. According to hospitality industry experts, restaurants are no longer just about food. The ambience and experience matter a lot and such trends easily attract customers for gaining unique experiences.

Irwin Road from Ayurveda College Circle till Nehru Circle asphalted

Mysuru, Feb. 15 (RK&BCT)- While only three properties extending up to 60 metres have to be demolished to realise the full benefits of a widened and a beautified Irwin Road, asphalting works have been undertaken under the initiative of Chamaraja MLA L. Nagendra. The work that was on since the last three days has been completed today.

Following complaints from residents and commuters that travelling on Irwin Road — that saw demolition of over 81 properties of the total 84 — was a nightmarish experience following many potholes, uneven gradients and also the road breaks, the asphalting works have been completed from Ayurveda College Circle till Nehru Circle (Lashkar Police Station).

This morning, Nagendra visited Irwin Road and examined the asphalting works and expressed happiness that the stretch has been made free of potholes and road breaks.

Only three properties on the road have to be demolished and the Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) has kept the razing works pending as the property owners have approached the High Court. Though the MCC has repeatedly said that they are ready to widen the bottlenecks after paying compensation, cases have landed in the Court, restraining the MCC.

The widening works of Irwin Road in the heart of the city was launched in 2018. Though over 80 percent of the demolition and widening of the road has been completed between the Arch Gate till the City Railway Station, the 450-metre stretch from Government Ayurveda College Circle till Nehru Circle is the bone of contention.

"We will have to await the Court order and we have taken up the asphalting works as many commuters had complained," Nagendra said.

Hostelworkers' indefinite stir continues for second day

Mysuru, Feb.15 (PM&DM)- The indefinite stir launched by Outsourced Hostel Workers serving at Hostels run by the Social Welfare Department across the district, seeking release of backlog wages (6 month wages) and fulfillment of other demands, entered the second day today in the city. Outsourced Hostel workers, under the banner of Karnataka Rajya Samyukta Vasathi Nilaya Karmikara Sangha and AIUTUC, began the stir in front of the Deputy Commissioner's office here yesterday by striking work at Hostels and it continued for the second day today at the same venue.

Accusing the authorities of not paying wages for the past 6 months, the protestors urged the Government to consider their plea for a hike in wages and grant them statutory benefits.

Speaking to Star of Mysore this morning, N. Muddukrishna, the District Secretary of the Sangha, said that there are about 250 outsourced workers serving in Hostels run by the Social Welfare Department. Pointing out that they are not being absorbed by the Government even though they are serving for over 15 years, he alleged that the workers have not been paid wages for the past 6 months, which has caused a lot of hardship for them.

Noting that the workers chiefly include Cooks, Assistant Cooks and Watchmen, Muddukrishna said that most of the cooks are women and they are now forced to come on to the streets as they are not paid wages.

Maintaining that they are paid a meagre salary of Rs.8,000 to Rs.10,000 a month, he said that the Government should take measures to cover them under statutory benefits. He urged the Government for hiking the wages, issuance of appointment letters, providing Provident Fund and such other benefits.

He also contended that the stir would continue until the Government meets their demands.

Mysuru, Feb. 15- In a move aimed at improving banking services in keeping with the times, the MCDCC (Mysuru-Chamarajangar District Central Co-operative) Bank has launched mobile ATM (Automated Teller Machine) services (ATM on wheels) to its customers.

According to MCDCC Bank Director M.P. Sunil, the mobile ATM unit has been launched with help from NABARD. Pointing out that Mysuru and Chamarajanagar districts have been given one vehicle each to provide mobile ATM services, which enable the customers to draw money from their accounts by using the ATM cards of any other bank as well, he said that the vehicle will travel to designated villages every day and stay there for a specific period, during which the customers can draw money at their doorstep.

Pointing out that the mobile unit also facilitates the customers in rural areas to pay their utility bills and also re-charge their DTH (Direct To Home) service tariffs, he said that villagers can also open a new SB account, if they do not have one.

Noting that a staff will be deputed for each unit to oversee the services, he said that a bank staff from the concerned taluk too will be deputed as an assistant.

Continuing, Sunil said that the first priority of the mobile ATM unit is villages located along the forest borders and at remote parts of the district. This facility will help the villagers save time, travel and money, he added.

It may be recalled, MCDCC Bank had launched its mobile banking application in February 2020 to facilitate its customers with an online banking service.

This app provides banking services at the click of a button with more than 20 types of services including Railway booking, water and cooking gas bill payment available on it. A customer can do a maximum of Rs. 2 lakh transaction per day through the app.

'Youths engaged in agriculture finding it hard to get brides'

Mandya Nehru Yuva Kendra Accounts Officer Basavaraj at MGP's awareness-cum-interaction programme on 'Role of Consumer Youth Clubs in Nation-Building'

Mysuru, Feb. 15 (SPN&DM)- Maintaining that youths engaged in agriculture are finding it hard to find brides as parents are reluctant to have a marriage alliance with agriculturists for their daughters, Mandya Nehru Yuva Kendra Accounts Officer Basavaraj said that this has resulted in many youths slipping to depression.

He was speaking at the monthly awareness-cum-interaction programme on 'Role of Consumer Youth Clubs in Nation-Building,' organised by Mysore Grahakara Parishat (MGP) in Yadavagiri here on Sunday.

Pointing out that it is the responsibility of Nehru Yuva Kendra to engage youths from both the sexes in nation-building, Basavaraj said that youths can form men and women's associations and get registered with Nehru Yuva Kendra.

Noting that the Kendra imparts skill training for youths, he said that youths can become self-employed after getting trained.

Maintaining that our older generations were more knowledgeable even if they were less educated and took to farming, he bemoaned that the concept of joint family was fast vanishing.

Expressing concern that agriculture is being increasingly ignored by the present generation, he said that youths from Mandya, who were more interested in farming, are now turning away from it.

Expressing concern that youths are slipping into depression over finding suitable jobs and brides, he said it is high time that intellectuals and activists think seriously over the issue.

Observing that the farming sector is facing a crisis in the country, he said that everyone should remember that we cannot have food if farming is stopped.

Noting that the society must take measures to ensure that youths engaged in agriculture and servicemen guarding the country's borders are treated with dignity, he called upon the youth community to make good use of Government programmes for imbibing a patriotic spirit.

He also lauded the Parishat for raising consumer issues whenever the consumers feel cheated.

MGP President Shivamurthy, S.V. Manjunath and others attended the programme.

Relocation of NTM School

Students and staff happy on continuance of academic activities in new location

By M.B. Pavan Murthy

Mysuru, Feb.15- Days after the decades-old NTM (New Type Model) School on N.S. Road in the heart of the city was shifted to Maharani Teacher Training Institute (MTTI) premises, also on N.S. Road, following a Government order, the School children and the staff seems to be happy that the School has been shifted back to its original location.

Following a Government order, the authorities had shifted the school to MTTI on Feb. 3 and the building was demolished four days later (Feb. 7) to pave way for Mysuru Ramakrishna Ashram and Mission to construct Viveka Memorial and Youth Cultural Centre there.

Days after the shifting of the NTM School, the children and the staff alike seems to have got very much adjusted to the new environment, as the MTTI is located opposite the place where the old School existed prior to its demolition. The new premises of NTM School is housed in a building block of MTTI. This block has all the heritage characteristics that very much resembles the earlier NTM School and architectural style in outlook.

The building block in MTTI premises has got a new facelift, with fresh coat of painting done for doors and windows. The block also has a good ventilation. Besides, the School has retained its original furniture, which were shifted in entirety to the new premises before demolition.

At present, the School, which runs Kannada medium classes from standards one to seven, has 71 children, with 47 of them girls. Most of the children and the whole staff expressed their happiness about the new location of the School. Maintaining that the new location has better facilities than the old one, they said that the School has the perfect environment for a Kannada Medium School, where children are taught in pleasant surroundings.

Noting that the School equipment, furniture and other articles are good, the school staff said that articles used for practicals too are being provided in accordance with the needs.

Contending that the old building had drinking water, toilet and electricity problems, they said that a majority of the Government grants then was utilised for payment of power bills as a borewell was sunk there to meet the drinking water requirements. As such, the maintenance cost of the old building ran high and it was proving to be a headache for the authorities. But there are no such issues in the case of the new location, they contended.

Children engrossed in reading at the Nali-Kali classroom readied at the new location of the NTM School — Maharani Teacher Training Institute (MTTI) premises on N.S. Road in city.

Former Corporator D. Nagabushan, who strived hard for the School's growth for years, said he is happy that the NTM School has returned to its founding location.

Asserting that the MTTI building where the NTM School is now housed was built by Maharani Kempananjammanni, he said that the building is being maintained properly and regularly.

Pointing out that the MTTI premises has a good drainage system and toilets, he said that the MTTI old building has now got a new look with the establishment of the School.

The School is currently headed by an In-charge Head Master and three teachers. The BEO Office has taken care to ensure that the School children do not face any problems in their academics.

The School in the new location currently has a toilet for boys. The construction of a new toilet for girls began yesterday (Feb. 14) and until then, the girl students are asked to use the toilet attached to MTTI.

Local residents and Swami Vivekananda followers too have chipped in with their contribution for the School's new location, by getting the building painted and providing other amenities.

They are doing their bit to promote this Government-run Kannada Medium School, which was built by the late Maharani of Mysore over a century ago.

They are also thinking of collecting funds from donors for introducing smart classes and providing TV screens and computers for the same.

Meanwhile, DDPI Ramachandraraje Urs said that the NTM School has been re-located to its founding location, which has made students and the staff happy. Maintaining that there is a Gazette notification to prove that the building was built by the erstwhile Maharani Kempananjammanni, Urs asserted that the new location has all things that are needed for academic activities of children.

South Zone BEO Ramaradhya, under whose jurisdiction the School comes, said that a Nali-Kali classroom has been readied at the new location.

Pointing out that teachers drawn from his office have been deputed for the NTM School as a temporary measure to meet the demands of academic activities, he asserted that children are enjoying the new campus and are displaying a renewed enthusiasm for studies. The new location also provides a more conducive atmosphere for learning, which has enthused the students, he added.

A girl student of the School said that she likes the new location very much and almost all students have got acclimatised to the new atmosphere. Arguing that the School has good ventilation and freshness, she said she feels like coming to the School on all days.

Relief cheques distributed to families of COVID victims

Mysuru, Feb.15 (RKB&DM)- MLA L. Nagendra distributed relief cheques of Rs.1 lakh each announced by the State Government to the family members of COVID victims at his office in Jaladarshini Guest House on Hunsur road here on Monday.

Nagendra said that though the Government cannot provide lasting relief to the families of the COVID dead, it is laudable that the Central and State Governments have announced monetary relief. Maintaining that 360 people died of the deadly virus in Chamaraja Assembly segment, Nagendra said that the families of 84 victims have been distributed Rs.1 lakh cheque as a first step. Noting that the Centre has paid its Rs.50,000 by remitting the amount directly to the Bank account of a family member of the victim through RTGS mode of remittance, the MLA said that it is satisfactory to note that the pandemic is easing out.

Lauding Prime Minister Modi for deft handling of COVID crisis in the country, he said that the entire world is now looking at India for controlling the pandemic. Chamaraja BJP leaders Somashekar Raju, Puneeth, Kumargowda, Dinesh Gowda, Pramod, Pushpa Venkatesh and Praveen were present.

WORD OF THE DAY

Jettison

Pronunciation: JET-uh-sun.
Meaning: Jettison means, literally, "to throw (something) overboard to lighten a ship or aircraft in distress"; figuratively, it means "to get rid of (something)."
Origin: Jettison comes from Anglo-French geteson, which means literally "action of throwing" and is related to the Latin verb jactare, meaning "to throw." The noun jettison refers to a voluntary sacrifice of cargo to lighten a ship's load in time of distress, and it is the source of the word jetsam (the name for goods "jettisoned"); the word is often paired with flotsam ("floating wreckage"). These days you don't have to be on a sinking ship to "jettison" something: the verb also means simply "to get rid of."
Example: "... [U.S. President Joseph Biden] and his aides continued to work with key members of Congress on what could stay in the bill and what could be jettisoned...." — Bill Powell

THE ODD WORD

Jangada

Crude log raft.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Jump to conclusions

Meaning: You use the phrase 'Jump to Conclusions' to indicate that a decision is being made without benefit of all the facts.
Origin: No one is certain about the origin of the expression 'jump to conclusions', although similar sayings have been used throughout history.
Example: "Be clear when you speak to Claire. She's often quick to jump to conclusions."

QUOTE BOX

A conclusion is simply the place where you got tired of thinking.
